HOUSE DISTRICTS were re-drawn as shown on above map. Twenty-one counties were split in forming districts to comply with the one-person, one-vote court ruling, but this county would be kept intact, though placed in a new district.

Morgan In New House And Senate Districts

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The Kentucky General Assembly wound up its special reapportionment session Friday as the Senate passed a redistricting measure approved earlier by the House.

The bill will now be forwarded to Gov. Nunn who will either approve or veto it or allow it to become law without his signature. Nunn told a reporter that at present he has no intention of vetoing the measure, but will give it further study.

HOUSE DISTRICT

Morgan, Elliott and Rowan counties were combined to compose House Dist. No. 71. The old district was composed of Morgan, Elliott and Lawrence. In the redistricting Lawrence was split, the southern sector being joined with Johnson and Martin to compose House Dist. No. 97, and the northern sector being combined with part of Boyd to compose House Dist. No. 99.

The new 71st dist. will be almost ideal in population as ordered by the courts. The 1970 census shows the three counties with a combined head

NUNN REQUESTS ARC FUNDS FOR VO-SCHL. HERE

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Gov. Louie B. Nunn this week asked the Appalachian Regional Commission to approve grants totaling over $2 million for the construction and expansion of eight vocational training schools in Eastern Kentucky. Kentucky will turn the ARC dollars into four new vocational education schools in Pulaski, Letcher, Perry and Morgan counties and improvements on four other schools in Leslie, Knott, Lee and Whitley counties. The four new vocational schools will serve 984 students.

Included in the applications to the Appalachian Regional Commission is a $480,000 request for funds to aid in constructing a new Morgan County Vocational School Extension Center at West Liberty.

This new facility, to be included in the new county high school complex planned at Index, will double the number of courses offered at the present facility, and will offer programs in auto mechanics, drafting, industrial electricity, welding, auto body repair, and health occupations.

The facility will cost $600,000 and will serve 164 students. Morgan County's contribution will be $120,000.

Total cost of the proposed new county high school, which will offer high school credits for vocational training courses, is estimated at around $2 million.

Nunn noted that total enrollments in vocational education in Kentucky have increased by more than 14 percent since 1968, with more than 120,000 secondary and adult students now enrolled in vocational training.

SENATE DISTRICT

In the Senate redistricting, Morgan, Elliott and Wolfe were placed in a new nine-county district that includes also Rowan, Menifee, Magoffin, Breathitt, Owsley and Jackson counties. The new district has a combined population of 82,373, just 2.7% under the recommended ideal to attain the one-person, one-vote representation.

Under the revised redistricting plan Elliott County has been placed in the largest area Senatorial district of the commonwealth. The new senatorial district contains nine counties, more than any other district.

The senatorial district is so

NEW FIRM SET FOR WEST LIBERTY TO SERVICE HEAVY MACHINERY

Joe S. Wells of Winchester and a West Liberty native, announced this week that he plans to establish a new business near West Liberty to service and repair heavy drilling machinery.

Construction of a 127x36-ft. prefab metal building to house the business is scheduled to begin soon at a site on Index Hill purchased by Mr. Wells from Kodell Construction Co. of Winchester.

Wells said the new firm, to be known as Morgan Supply Co., will sell and service heavy-duty bits for drilling machinery, and also will service hydraulic systems for construction machinery.

Included in the 4500-sq. ft. building will be a welding and machine shop.

Wells, who recently resigned a position as secretary-treasurer of Kodell Construction Co. plans to return with his family to West Liberty where he will manage the firm.

He said he hopes to have the business in operation by the first of May. Initially, the firm will open with around three employees, Wells said, and if business expands as planned, more will be hired. He said the firm will solicit business from contractors throughout Eastern and Central Kentucky and parts of Ohio and Tennessee.

Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wells of West Liberty, is a graduate of Morgan County High School and Morehead State University. Before joining Kodell, he was employed as a certified public accountant with a Lexington firm and later was employed by the Commercial Bank at West Liberty. He is married to the former Martha Risner of Tucson, Ariz. and they have two children.

3 BUSINESSES BULGLARIZED FRIDAY NIGHT

Three West Liberty business places were burglarized last Friday night and money was taken from two — Gullett's Somerset Oil Service Station and Stamper's Chevrolet, both on Prestonsburg Street.

The other business — Factory Outlet Shoe Store on Main Street — reported that nothing was taken, police report.

Police Chief Ed Gillespie said entry to the Somerset Oil Station was made by prying a lock on a front door. Patrolmen Darrell Adams and Hershell Ison discovered the robbery about 11 p.m., Gillespie said.

The other burglaries were not discovered until Saturday morning when employees came to work. Entry to Stamper's Chevrolet was made through a rear window. Entry to the shoe store was made by forcing a basement door.

Moon Well Finished At Depth of 10,016 Ft.

CASING WILL BE SET TO 10,000 FT. TESTING STARTS

Drillers "bottomed-out" Tuesday at 10,016 feet in the deep test well they drilled for Monitor Petroleum Corp. near Moon post office in eastern Morgan county, and logging the well has started. Also pipe is being brought in to case the well down to the granite.

"We've got two very interesting zones," said Monitor's division manager Bink Strickland, Wednesday. "Zones that have both oil and gas," he added. But he declined to reveal estimated production.

Trucks commenced running last night (Wednesday) bringing casing from West Virginia to case the well. The casing will be set to a depth of 10,000 feet, Strickland said.

And as soon as the deepest casing is set, Halliburton Co. will cement it in and start testing to decide on fracking procedures.

Logging of various strata in the deep hole was started Tuesday and was being continued yesterday, with geologists from several offices present.

The deep-test, one of two drilled by Monitor in northern Morgan county, was drilled by Slim Ray of London, using a rotary rig. Now a large "work over" cable tool rig will be brought in from Louisiana to do the finishing work.

IN STRATEGIC SECTION

The Morgan deep-test is on the farm of Fred Ison on Doc Ison Creek, about three-fourths of a mile north of Moon post office.

The site is in a corner just northwest of the point where the Paint Creek Uplift crosses the Irvine-Paint Creek Fault, and in a strategic area of interesting formations. Drillers found that various formations were relatively on a level with the deep-test. Monitor drilled last year at Stephens in eastern Elliott county, about 15 miles to the north, until the Cambrian was reached. But commencing with the Knox, the deeper formations dropped sharply, and the Cambrian atop the granite was more than 300 feet deeper than in the Elliott well. The Elliott well was drilled to a depth of 9,670 feet, and a good flow of gas was hit in the St. Peter, according to reports.

As regards the Morgan well, Strickland a few weeks ago said that oil was hit in the Knox between 4,800 and 4,900 in the well at Moon, and he indicated that drill stem tests had revealed a flow of upwards of 400 barrels a day. But any other details of production have not been revealed.

Since drilling the Elliott deep-test well last year Monitor has picked up 65,000 acres of leases in Morgan, Elliott, Lawrence and Johnson counties, and plans extensive drilling in the first three counties, and a few wells in Johnson.

The Morgan and Elliott deep-tests were drilled on a farm-out agreement with Ashland Oil, Pennzoil and Sun, and Strickland a few weeks ago said that if the Moon well comes in good, there may be unlimited drilling in this area.

BULLET SHOT INTO CABLE DISRUPTS PHONE SERVICE

Telephone service in northern Morgan and southern Elliott counties was disrupted for several hours Sunday night after someone fired a bullet into a 100-power telephone cable near the old Morgan Drive-In Theatre just north of West Liberty.

A spokesman for Mt. Rural Telephone Cooperative said phone service between West Liberty and Sandy Hook was out for around eight hours while repairmen worked to locate the trouble. It was located and repaired about 10 a.m. Monday.

Mrs. Homer (Ruby) Easterling of Blairs Mills with handmade dolls and samples of needle crafts she plans to display at the first annual Dogwood Festival at West Liberty May 7-9. The festival will provide a sales outlet for hundreds of useful and beautiful Morgan-made handicrafts and is expected to draw one of the largest crowds ever to attend an event in the Morgan County seat.

BUSY BLAIRS MILLS NEEDLE WORK ARTIST PLANS FESTIVAL WORK

By Bonnie Ruth Lewis

Mrs. Homer Easterling of Blairs Mills is another talented Morgan County needle-work artist — and almost certainly the busiest — who plans to display her handwork at the Dogwood Festival here May 7-9.

Though she could easily fill a booth of her own with her beautiful afghans, quilts, crocheted vests, ponchos, hooked rugs, crocheted hats, purses, stuffed animals, pictures, rag dolls, and other hand-made dolls, these items are so much in demand that most of them are sold or promised before she can accumulate a booth full.

She plans to display her work in the Wrigley booth, one of many which will be set up on West Liberty's Main Street during the two-day festival.

One of her most popular items is an old-fashioned-looking doll with china head, arms, and legs, which she stuffs and dresses with hand made apparel.

Many people in the county as well as friends and relatives in Ohio and the Ashland area depend on Mrs. Easterling's colorful, unique, and often-original crafts to fill their Christmas shopping lists.

She is also a skilled and gifted dressmaker and the day the above photo was made she had just completed her 200th garments included fancy formal suits, coats, cheerleaders' uniforms, men's shirts, and many other lovely garments.

Many of her hand-made items will be on display at the Dogwood Festival, along with hundreds of Morgan-made handicrafts. Don't miss it.

10 PCT. INCREASE AUTOMATIC FOR SOCIAL SECURITY RECIPIENTS

First checks to include the new 10 percent monthly benefit increase authorized in legislation acted upon this week by Congress will reach 26 million social security beneficiaries on June 3. Robert M. Ball, Commissioner of Social Security, said today that the regular June 3 checks covering benefits for the month of May will reflect the new higher monthly amount. Separate checks, scheduled to reach beneficiaries later in June, will cover the amount of the increase for the months of January through April.

Ball emphasized that social security beneficiaries do not need to get in touch with a social security office to get the checks. The payments will be mailed to beneficiaries automatically.

"It will take a little over one month," Ball said, to refigure the benefit amounts for all beneficiaries, including the adjustment to take account of events that have affected their individual benefit payments for a particular month in the retroactive period. Over 2.5 million such adjustments are required in a typical month, he said, for such reasons as the death of a beneficiary, the remarriage of a widow, a child's attainment of the age of 18, a beneficiary's earnings, etc.

The refiguring of benefit amounts is being scheduled so as to avoid delay in the regular delivery of the April 3 and May 3 checks, he said. Those checks will be for the amounts payable to beneficiaries before enactment of the 10 percent increase.

By the first of May, the new records will have been produced by the computers on magnetic tapes showing the new monthly amount for each beneficiary and the amount of his retroactive increase. The Treasury Department will need the month of May to print the checks and turn them over to the Post Office Department for delivery to social security beneficiaries on June 3.

DRUG CHARGES IN MAGOFFIN FINAL REPORT

COMBS PROMISES CHANGE IN OLD AGE ASSISTANCE LAW

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Bert Combs promised Tuesday that if elected he will change a state law governing old age benefits to insure that a rise in Social Security payments will not be nullified by a corresponding deduction in old age benefits, as is now required by Kentucky law.

$60 MILLION IN FHA LOANS AID KENTUCKIANS

Farmers Home Administration, an agency of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, is doing much more than talk about rural development. The 57 offices of this agency are making it possible for rural Kentuckians to have and enjoy pure water, sanitary waste disposal systems, new houses and economic assistance in the form of loans for farm ownership and operating loans.

Mr. John H. Burris, State Director of F.H.A., anticipates 4,000 new homes will be built, 24,480 people will be served by newly constructed water and sewer systems, and 1,500 farmers will be assisted in their farming operations by F.H.A. loans they are unable to secure through normal credit sources during the 1971 fiscal year.

This assistance to development is being accomplished by approximately $60,000,000 in loans made for sufficient time to be repaid by the borrowers under the F.H.A. supervised credit plans. No loans are made if satisfactory credit can be obtained through regular financial sources.

Two-day meetings are currently being held at six selected places in the state. All F.H.A. personnel will attend one of these meetings conducted as program and training sessions to acquaint them with new procedures and ideas.

Adoption of this training should make it possible to serve an increasing number of people next year. Farmers Home Administration personnel take pride in doing their part to make rural America a better place to live and are hopeful of slowing the exodus of people to the overcrowded cities.

Personnel from the West Liberty office which serves Morgan and Magoffin counties attended one of the above mentioned meetings on February 23 and 24 at Natural Bridge. Those personnel attending were William P. Caskey, Woodrow W. White, Robert W. Skidmore, and Ivis C. Terrell.

Bounty For Removing Junk Cars Proposed

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Appalachian Regional Commission has proposed bounty payments for the removal of old car hulks in an effort to clean up the landscape in the 13 Appalachian states.

Donald W. Whitehead, ARC co-chairman, told a House public works subcommittee that junked cars are a blight in several areas within the 13-state region, and suggested a $15 bounty for all old cars removed.

Whitehead said that in Lewis, Rowan, Elliott, and Carter Counties in Kentucky there were 1,300 junked cars.

He also suggested changes in local restrictions on titling and impoundment, and an inventory tax on auto wreckers to prevent the accumulation of too many hulks in junk yards.

She's Ready For Birthday--Her 100th

Morgan Native Of Camargo Will Mark A Century March 21

(Mt. Sterling Advocate)

Mrs. Emma Fannin of Camargo will celebrate a birthday on Sunday, March 21, and she's expecting a "lot of folks to gather in."

There'll be a birthday cake, "probably as big as a half bushel," to mark the occasion—Mrs. Fannin's 100th birthday. How does it feel to live to be 100? Mrs. Fannin doesn't know, she "didn't get there yet," she replied.

Mrs. Fannin born March 21, 1871, in Morgan County, Ky. She has been smoking a pipe for 80 years. She picked up that habit when she had a tooth ache, and "took to it." Her favorite is an old stone pipe, which she has had for more than 50 years.

Mrs. Fannin also has a couple of corn cob pipes, but she doesn't especially like them "because they turn up." Now, she smokes Carter Hall tobacco, explaining that "twist" was, and is, her favorite tobacco, but her daughter, Mrs. Henry Elliott, with whom she lives, convinced her that "twist" is a "little strong for my age."

The daughter of a Baptist preacher, who "never took a dime for his preaching," Mrs. Fannin still makes her own bed each morning, goes to the table for her meals, never uses a cane to aid her in walking about. Her room is "off limits" to everyone, although she did allow an Advocate photographer to see it "because the price was right for the trip out" (free) to make her picture and interview her.

Mrs. Fannin comes from a family noted for long life. Her father, Alvin Caskey, died at 97, nine days after he was seriously injured in a fall from a porch. At the time of the fall, her father was walking 2 or 3 miles to a store each day. She had five sisters and a brother, all of whom lived to be more than 80 years of age.

At the age of 21, she married Bryant Fannin, also a Baptist preacher. "He was a good man," Mrs. Fannin recalled. "He never gave me a short word." Her husband died 24 years ago.

Mrs. Fannin didn't get much education, because little was available—especially for girls—in her childhood days. She went to school about three weeks, then quit. She didn't like the teacher (a man) because "he packed a switch and pecked on the young 'uns, and besides, I knew about as much as he did."

At the school, a log building with no window, was about six miles away. It had a big fireplace where trees burned to provide heat. Seats were made of split logs, with large wood pegs for legs.

Mrs. Fannin said she never got a whipping "because I was so scared I didn't ever look up." The teacher "swatted" those students who did look up. In Mrs. Fannin's estimation, the teacher was a "mean man."

Her father, Alvin Caskey, helped to build the first courthouse in Morgan County, hauling stone by oxcart in "mud that was about belly deep to the oxen."

Spry and active, Mrs. Fannin can remember back to the time when she was "5 or 3 years old." She remembers when a "parcel of land" could be obtained for a "few shotgun shells or a cow," when corn shuck beds were to be found in every home, when clothing (wool) came from the spinning wheel and from the sheep that a farmer raised and sheared.

She also remembers when green coffee beans were "parched" in the stove, then beat up with an axe handle (in the days before the coffee mill was invented). Grocery shopping was a little different in her childhood. Her father went to the store

"before winter set in" and came home with a half-bushel of coffee (7½¢ a pound), a couple of barrels of flour, salt and soda to last all winter and sugar, which sold at the rate of 5 pounds for 5¢.

Hog-killing time was a big event. The old lye hopper was used for making soap, lard was boiled from the cracklins in a big black pot and souse had to be made from the hog's head. The smokehouse was the meat market of those days, filled with hams, sides of bacon, middling and shoulders.

Those were the days too, of log-rolling, when large trees were cut down and burned to clear farm land. Mrs. Fannin wondered how much that timber might be worth on today's market. There were quilting bees, bean-shelling and, of course, all day singing and dimer on the ground.

In her childhood, her nearest "neighbor" was 30 miles away, so she didn't have playmates.

Asked to estimate her grandchildren, she said: "Lord, I don't know." There are five generations in her family and Mrs. Elliott "estimated" there are more than 150 grandchildren.

She quit quilting about a year ago, was once a "good cook" and still could knit stockings, adding: "I still could, but I ain't going to."

Asked what she planned to do on her 100th birthday, Mrs. Fannin said: "Eat dinner, I guess; why don't you come and eat a piece of my birthday cake?"

JAMES ALLEN FUGATE, Ezel, a district winner in the 1970 Future Farmers of America Contest sponsored by The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times, receives a $100 U.S. Savings Bond and an award certificate from the newspapers' editor and publisher, Barry Bingham, Sr. The awards were presented at the annual Farm Awards Luncheon in Louisville on Feb. 27.

OBSERVATIONS

AND PREDICTIONS

BAROMETRIC PRESSURE LOW—Barometric pressure dropped to a near-record low of 29.52 in this area Sunday. Low pressure areas usually preface storms—and make one feel punk also. The storm dropped down in the Lexington area, and knocked out TV's there for three hours and did considerable damage to buildings along a narrow strip. Then the air pressure commenced climbing—but very slowly. It was still under 30 inches Tuesday. It's amazing how air pressure affects human beings. We learned this years ago while collecting on paper delivery routes. We found people would not pay when they had money in their pockets—they just felt punk and seemed uncooperative. An old doctor, wise on human nature, consoled us. He advised, "Just wait until Monday and go back around after the storm has passed—and you'll get all the pay." And it worked out that way. After an electrical storm, the air feels fresher, the barometric pressure is higher—and people just feel better, and they'll cooperate more readily.

13 AUTO DEATHS — In Kentucky a total of 13 traffic deaths were reported over the weekend—and two more on Monday, making 15 in three days. Two of the victims were from nearby counties. Clark Walters, 22, of Hager, was killed when his car wrecked on KY-134 in Magoffin county, and John Williamson, 23, of Mt. Sterling, was killed in a two-car crash on I-64 near the Montgomery-Bath county line.

BUSINESS HERE AND HEREABOUTS

2 BUSINESSES BURN — Fire during the weekend destroyed two Kentucky manufacturing plants—the Blue Grass Plant Foods, Inc., at Danville, which made chemical fertilizer, and the Griffin Pipe Co. plant at London which employed 140 persons in bakery operations.

FARM TAXES CLIMB — The government reports that farm taxes levied by the state and local governments increased a record 11.1% during 1969. Officials of USDA's Economic Research Service said the rate amounted to $200 million and brings total taxes on farmland to a record $2.3 billion. Average farm tax in 1969 was $2.27 per acre as compared to $2.05 in 1968.

THE PERFECT AUTO — The dynamics of motion within a vacuum offers intriguing possibilities of power. This has long been known, but now a group of scientists at Johns Hopkins University's special projects division claim they have developed the perfect auto, using the power from a 220-pound flywheel that rotates within a hermetically sealed vacuum chamber. The super-flywheel is "wound up" by a small electric motor which is plugged into an electric light socket for 20 minutes. Then the flywheel transmits its motion to the outside through an electromagnetic coupling, and is capable of running an auto for 110 miles at speeds up to 70 miles an hour, before it needs another 20-minute "wind-up." Such a car, costing much less than conventional gasoline engine cars and operating at about one-twentieth of the cost, could prove invaluable and popular for urban use in big cities now choked with by automobile-emitted pollution. Anyway, the university scientists have received a federal grant of $190,000 for continuing their work of perfecting the auto which they claim may be the "perfect car." Detroit manufacturers scoff at the idea. However, in Switzerland a fleet of buses using the flywheel wind-up principle has operated for 10 years, but the university scientists' product is much more sophisticated and more efficient, they claim. Also the military has used the principle for years in propelling torpedoes. Cities of New York and San Francisco already are discussing the possibility of using the "super flywheel wind-up" method to power their municipally-owned subway cars and elevated railways.

INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION OFF — Industrial production was off during February. The Federal Reserve Board reported this week that production in the nation's factories dropped four-tenths of one percent, revealing continued weakness in the economy, reluctance of big business to spend, and no big stepup of consumer spending.

BIRTH OF SON — Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Perry of West Liberty are the proud parents of a baby boy. They have chosen for their son the name Johnny Dewey. The Perry's have another child, a daughter, Shamir, Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Willard Legg and Mr. and Mrs. Newt Perry.

MORGAN AMBULANCE SERVICE IN A BIND, OUTSIDE HELP NEEDED

By PHYLLIS YOUNGERMAN Lexington Leader

An independent ambulance service in a rural county has almost no way to bring in enough money to meet its expenses, according to Dan Lacy of West Liberty.

For a while, he says, "we're just going to try to exist . . . until we get some kind of outside help—we're going to see if that's possible. If we can't get outside help, we won't keep on running for nothing."

And, he predicts, "if we go out there won't be an ambulance service here (in Morgan County)."

Lacy, with his brother-in-law, John Motley, established the Morgan Ambulance Service, Inc., in July 1970 when local funeral homes announced they would discontinue service.

Changes are $65 for a trip to a Lexington hospital; $45 to Morhead, site of the nearest medical facility, and $30 to a doctor in West Liberty. Customers who cannot pay when the trip is made are served, but are asked to sign 30-day promissory notes.

"We run approximately 30 to 45 trips per month," Lacy says. "We collect around 70-75 percent of the bills."

Lacy, who also is a photographer, and Motley, who runs an electric shop, have had college first aid training and serve as two of the concerns' three ambulance operators. Local funeral homes donated one vehicle each to the new service, with the firm buying a third. Service offices are in Lacy's studio.

There is not enough money even for salaries.

Lacy estimates that he has received $200 in miscellaneous pay since July, and Motley about $100. Only the third attendant, a former employee of one of the funeral homes, is paid — $80 per week — on a regular basis.

And actually, Lacy says, "we should have two men per ambulance."

Expenses for the business average $2,500 a month, including $200 a month for gasoline.

ONE IN 4 GET FOOD STAMPS IN JOHNSON

PAINTSVILLE, KY. — One out of every four persons in Johnson County is getting federal food stamps, this despite an obvious economic boom in the county. The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that a total of 4,623 Johnson countians are receiving food stamps, up from 3,155 a year earlier—or a gain of 46 percent in a year. Receipts of food stamps have increased in Kentucky an average of 56 percent during the past year. One reason for the 56 percent increase in Johnson, according to Blance Patrick, field administrator for the Office of Public Assistance, is that a number of people who have been working away have returned to the county after losing jobs.

The Kentucky Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults has pioneered in providing services for children crippled by many causes.

By ORPHA M. HAMILTON

March 9 — Jewell Hamilton and Sam Litteral went to Lexington Friday and brought Buford Pack home from the U. K. Medical Center where he had taking treatment from Monday to Friday. He has been very sick during the weekend.

Our sympathy is extended to the family of Alton Kenard of Paintsville whose funeral was Sunday afternoon.

Fanny Sammons, who has been hospitalized seven weeks following a stroke, is reported to be improved a little bit. She is in a Paintsville hospital.

We are glad to welcome Jay Potter and family into our community. They have recently moved to the Alice Sutphin place.

Mr. and Mrs. John David Elam visited Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Scott Hopkins. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Helton visited Mr. and Mrs. Hoo kins Sunday afternoon.

We are glad to welcome Rev. and Mrs. Charlie Frederick home after a two month vacation in Florida. Also glad to have Mrs. Esther Litteral back to teach her Sunday school class after spending the winter in Florida. Her tan showed she had really had a lot of sun.

Misses Kelli and Delynda Hill were Saturday night guests of their grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Hill and Deanna attended the ball game at Morehead Saturday night.

Mrs. Mary Henry had a special guest one afternoon last week. Miss Joyce Burton of Laos. Miss Burton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gobel Burton of Dayton and she is employed as a teacher in the schools of Laos. She says she likes it there. Miss Burton also was visiting other relatives.

Cassie Hammond is her aunt and Carrie Elam and Nettie Hughes of West Liberty are her aunts. Mrs. Henry says though that is the farthest anyone ever came to visit her.

Mrs. Rosa Nickell, of Dayton was Sunday night guest of Mrs. Scott Hopkins.

We were sorry to learn this morning, (Monday) that Mrs. Eddyth Croucher enroute from Lebanon, Ohio to the home of her parents here, had an auto accident. However, she was not injured seriously. The accident was caused by ice on the road and considerable damage was done to the car. A passerby picked her and her little girl up and brought them here.

Congratulations to Buddy Coffey, who has completed his 19 months military service in Germany, and arrived home last Friday afternoon before his folks realized he had reached the States. He goes to Ft. Knox tomorrow to pick up his title of "Mr. Civilian."

A welcome home dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Buford Coffey Sunday in honor of their son, Buddy. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Swartz and children, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Curt Hopkins and children, and of course several other friends called during the day. Supper guests Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rose and Junior and daughter of Middletown.

Danny Penix, who works in Ohio, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Penix, on the weekend.

We are glad Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Brown reached home safely last Thursday, after a three weeks vacation in Florida. However we consider them very lucky to escape serious injury, when on the way home, near Macon, Georgia a lady, evidently driving too fast, jammed into the back of their car and "totaled" their car. Their son, Russell, was called and he and Estelle went to Georgia and brought them on home.

Mrs. Bill Lewis and Mrs. Paris Lewis had business in West Liberty today.

Carol Morgan and Earl Brown called on Mrs. Alka Williams Sunday afternoon.

Miss Tammy Doggett of Lebanon, Ohio was Monday night guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lewis. Tammy is visiting her grandparents, the Buford Packs.

With living expenses continuing upward, medical expenses climbing and almost everything else, I agree with comments in Cresson's Column: "If today's dollar could talk, it wouldn't have cents enough to say much."

Since the first Heart Fund Campaign was conducted nationally in 1949, there has been a decline of about 20 percent in the death rate from heart and blood vessel diseases applying to persons below age 65.

Hawks Win Peanut League Tourney In Overtime

Vernon Lindon's Cannel City Hawks copped the Morgan County Peanut League Basketball Tournament here Tuesday evening in a one-point victory over Jack Cline's Lions in overtime.

The victory before a large crowd of fans gave the Hawks a 11-2 record for the season and the championship trophy.

Scoring for the winners was by Randall Williams who got 9, Billy Humley 6, Ralph Ison 5, Henry Keeton and Greg Higgins 2 each.

The Lions, who ended the season with a 10-3 overall record, were paced by Donnie Hamper and Jeff Benton with 9 and 8 points, respectively, and Ricky Chaney and Lennie Franklin each got 3.

The Hawks gained the tourney finals by defeating the Bats, the Spiders, and the Cobras. The Lions defeated the Crockett Cubs and the Mud Hens to gain the finals.

In addition to the winner and runner-up trophies, a trophy was also presented to the team with the best wonlost record during regular season play. It was presented to Barry Bradley's Bats whose regular season record was 8-1.

Facts are very often stubborn things and well concealed.

SENATE VOTES TO EXTEND ARC
4 MORE YEARS

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 16.—The Senate Thursday passed a bill to extend the Appalachian Regional Commission for four years—until June 1975—and the Appalachian Development Highway system for five years—until 1978. The vote was 77 to 3. Under present law, the Commission's operations are due to expire this June 30, and the Appalachian Highway authority will expire June, 1973.

Senator John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) joined with Senator Jennings Randolph (D-W.Va.) to introduce the legislation in the Senate. Senators Cooper and Randolph originated the first Appalachian Development Act in 1965. Senator Randolph is chairman of the Senate Public Works Committee, which has legislative jurisdiction over the Appalachian Program. Senator Cooper is the ranking Republican member of the Committee. Before final passage, they were joined by 57 Senators as co-sponsors.

No substantive changes were made in the Appalachian program on the floor of the Senate.

A House subcommittee opened hearings on the Senate-passed bill Monday, and Rep. Robert Jones of Alabama, chairman of the subcommittee, said the program "has the support of every one of the 13 governors in the Appalachian area, every state legislator, and as far as I know, the approval of every member of Congress from the region."

However, supporters of the ARC bill in the House are backing a two-year extension.

The Appalachian Commission will go out of existence June 30 unless Congress extends its life.

Polluted air serves many purposes as well as pure air does, as, for examples, it is used as transmission of power in operating tools for ripping up newly paved streets; it makes possible the use of suction pumps; it is used to inflate tires, and it keeps our bodies from exploding.

MIRROR OF OPINION—A FARM EDITOR'S VIEW

In my last column I mentioned some of the reasons why our country, and we its citizens, can never be the same again as a result of the many disturbing changes that are taking place. Today I will explore what this means for young people.

We oldsters worked very hard to get out of the depression and to get more of what we called the "good things of life" for ourselves and our families. In doing so many of us traded a blue collar for a white collar and moved to the bigger cities. Somehow word got around that education was a sure-fire way to a better job, greater wealth, and a better "position" in life. Education became a big thing, and educators embraced the idea, stressing science and technology and holding up the goals of business and professional success.

I have you noticed that most of the dissent among young people has come from two directions — those who haven't had a fair chance of their share of the pie and those who have had too much pie and no longer like the taste of it? Between these extremes is a majority of students still willing to work hard for more pie and a better position in this world, but even they have a feeling of unrest about the way the pie is distributed or whether it is really the kind of pie they want.

Education no longer looks like a sure-fire means to good jobs and success. Young people have misgivings about the world holding together long enough for them to live the good life. They see science and technology geared to consumerism chewing up our resources and destroying our environment at an alarming rate. And for what? The happiness that was promised at the end of the rainbow doesn't seem to be there.

So they are puzzled and worried. They wonder if they haven't hoped for a wrong bill of goods. They are learning the hard way what our religious and our wise men have been telling us all along, that the human being is not fulfilled by acquiring and having, but by doing and being something worthwhile by spiritual standards.

The best things in life may not be free, but they are essentially non-economic. We have been spending too much time, money and education trying to acquire "things" and use them up as fast as we can.

What young people need is higher goals, something more important to do than acquiring wealth or "getting ahead." Such goals have been right under our noses all along, but we have lost sight of them.

Let me mention some of these goals. We need to restore our relations with God and His creation. Tolstoy's farmer said the purpose of life was to serve God. Farmers are the chief stewards of land and water, and we certainly have our share of responsibility for the air and all of God's creatures who breathe it, including our fellow men. Here is opportunity indeed!

New appreciation of non-economic work and values may change the places where the most important things are being done from the crowded cities back to the smaller towns and open country. Here again the rural young people have a great challenge.

Most important of all may be placing a new importance on humanness over and beyond science and technology. — Paul C. Johnson in Prairie Farmer.

SCS NOTES—

WILDLIFE MUST HAVE FOOD

By H. A. WALLACE

An area of land set aside for food production and cover for wildlife on each farm is needed. This can be a few rows of grain left at the ends of fields, a small area along the creek bank or edge of the woodland, not mowed and protected from grazing or any other method.

There are different kinds of plants that make good feed for wildlife. Some of the ones we can grow are buckwheat, corn, hairy vetch, lespedeza, millet, grain sorghums, wheat, soybeans, orchard grass, bluegrass, alfalfa, sericea lespedeza, and white clover.

Some recommended seeding rates for these are: buckwheat,

3/4 to 1 1/4 bushels per acre; corn, 7 to 12 pounds per acre; hairy vetch, 30 to 40 pounds per acre alone or 15 to 25 pounds in mixture with small grain; lespedeza, 15 to 25 pounds per acre; millet, 10 to 30 pounds per acre alone or 15 to 20 pounds in mixture; grain sorghums, 3 to 8 pounds per acre; soybeans, 3 to 5 pecks per acre; wheat, 1 to 1 1/2 bushel per acre.

Cost-share from the ASCS has been available in the past for help in establishing food for wildlife.

Contact us for help in planning and applying this much-needed practice. We need to conserve our wildlife resources.

ODDS AND ENDS

By Earl Kinner, Jr.

Vinson Conley of Crockett was in to renew his subscription one day last week. The conversation got around to John Swift's silver mines, which reminded him of a small mystery which has been banded around in his section of the county for many years. Mr. Conley said that when he was a small boy, his grandfather, the late John Milt. Conley, owned a muzzle-loading rifle which he still used to hunt squirrels at that time. He owned a bullet mold for the rifle and cast his own bullets.

While he was explaining to his grandson how to load and shoot the rifle, the grandson asked where he got his lead to make the bullets. The old man said that in the old days he bought it from a man by the name of Adkins who resided in the area and that Adkins got the lead from ore he dug at a secret location in the area. Adkins would disappear and then return at day's end with an accumulation of lead which he sold to his neighbors or used himself.

As far as is known, Adkins was the only person who knew of the lead-bearing ore, or at least, others who had known had died and knowledge of its whereabouts lost. A branch of Splitwood Creek, a tributary of Paint Creek, still bears the name Leadmine Hollow, and while we're unfamiliar with the details, some persons have reported finding rocks in the area bearing a lead-like substance. Splitwood itself is the site of the only log school house remaining in Morgan.

Built in 1900 just east of Crockett (known then as Wheelertown) the school was built of logs cut from the then-virgin forest which covered most of the area, hewed and raised by citizens of the community.

Ye scribe and son Greg took advantage of the fine weather last weekend to make our first spring pilgrimage to the creek bank. Though certain eel beds would come to rely on Grassy Creek had washed out during the winter, we finally located another and ended up with four fat Kentucky bass and two good-sized red eyes on the stringer. On our way home we couldn't help but notice the fine job the Woodsbend Boys Camp boys have done cleaning up along the highway in that area. Particularly noteworthy is the absence of roadside garbage dumps along the creek bank—eyesores that have marred the pastoral beauty along Grassy for years.

TO COMPLETE PURGE OF VOTER ROLLS THIS SATURDAY

John Oldfield, Jr., Democrat member and chairman of the Morgan County Purgation Board, said Tuesday that purging of county voter rolls should be completed by week's end. A complete tabulation of registered voters and their party affiliations will be available soon after voter registration books are closed March 30, he said. Other members of the board are Forrest Lacy, Republican, and Mrs. Alice Hill, appointed member. Austin Hill is serving as board clerk.
